TORONTO TIDINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Bell went down to Trenton for the week-end of October 4th, to see the latter's father, who is not so well as we would like to see him.

Mr. J. R. Byrne was just on the eve of leaving for Chatham to conduct the service there, when he was seized with the severe ailment that brought on his operation. Not wishing to disappoint our Chatham friends, Mr. George W. Reeves cheerfully went up and conducted a good meeting in the "Maple Leaf City" on October 5th.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jones and children were down from Palgrave visiting relatives here on October 5th, and attended our harvest festival service that afternoon.

Our Kicuwa Club now meets in one of our church rooms every Monday evening—holidays excepted. It has a flowing membership of youthful damsels of the binding tie.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Paterson, of Montreal, returned home on October 7th, after a pleasant week spent with relatives in this city. On their way up they made a brief stop over at Belleville. While here they made side motor trips to Guelph to see a sick uncle, and to Niagara Falls and Hamilton. On their way home they visited in Brockville and Ottawa. By jove, they were a lucky couple, for a wealthy uncle of Mrs. Paterson placed an elegant car and classy chauffeur at their disposal for their holiday trip all-around free of charge. The reporter and Mrs. Roberts regret their stay at "Mora Glen" was so brief, but here's hoping they will call again.

Mr. John Buchan left on October 9th, for Tiverton for a few days' rest with his wife's folks. Mrs. Buchan and little son, who have been up that way for a month, returned home with him on October 13th. No sooner had little Alex. Jr., arrived home than he went scampering about in gleeful spirits, as though he owned the world.

His great legion of friends here and everywhere were shocked to hear that their old friend, Mr. J. R. Byrne was suddenly seized with a severe pain and rushed to the General Hospital on October 4th, where he underwent a delicate operation for appendicitis. At time of writing, he is resting nicely and with good care it is hoped he will be all right again before long. As Country Mission Conventor, his absence at the Board of Trustees meeting on October 6th was keenly felt.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Scott and a couple of friends motored out to St. Catharines, and spent Sunday, October 5th very pleasantly in that city. Our new church caretaker is not only a good stoker, but an experienced steam fitter as well, so proves a valuable asset to us. Mr. Frank Moore, our esteemed business manager, is warmly congratulated in selecting Mr. Crawford as our caretaker, from scores of applicants.

Our church Board of Trustees held its October meeting on the 6th, but as there was very little business to shift through the meeting was over in record time. Our winter's supply of coal screening has already been secured and stored away, the price being four dollars per ton.

The Bridgen Literary Society held a very enjoyable autumn outing to the country villa of Mr. Fred Bridgen and his sister, Miss Bertha Bridgen, near Newton Brook. The Bridgens, after whose illustrious father, our society derives its name, had invited the members out there as their guests for that afternoon and evening, and what a grand time all had, with all sorts of amusements suitably provided for every one. It was a most beautiful day, and there was sufficient eats provided for all. The ever popular host and hostess were cordially thanked for their hospitality and thoughtfulness.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Grooms, with a party of friends, including Mr. Will Hazlett and his sister, Evelyn, motored up to Gravenhurst on October 5th, to visit Mrs. William Hazlett, whom they found still on the way to complete recovery.

The engagement is announced of Miss Norma Rosalind Smith to Mr. John Farmer Gottlieb, both of this city, and their marriage is to take place early in November. Mr. Gottlieb formerly lived in Flint, Mich.

Mr. Frank Pierce accompanied by Miss Annabel Thomson and Mr. Ewart Hall, motored up to Markdale on October 5th, where they spent a most enjoyable day with Miss Alma Brown and her brother, Herbert, who were so delighted to have their Toronto friends to while away the time.

Mr. W. R. Watt picked out a very good subject for discussion at our Bible class on October 8th, when he described in full detail four Bible Birds as found in His Word, and which our Saviour mentioned in His various sayings. They were the Raven, the Sparrow, the Dove and the Eagle, and each respective, denotes, providence, trust, peace and strength. It was a very interesting lecture, and brought forth much comment.

Through the kindness of the C. P. R. our Women's Association was able to give a moving-picture entertainment in the Bridgen Nasmith Hall on October 10th. Though there was no admission charged, a free-will offering was taken up and a liberal sum was realized.

Among those at the meeting on September 21st, at the home of the White family in Bewdley, were Mr. A. W. Mason and Mrs. Harry Mason, of Toronto, and it was a pleasing coincidence for the two to meet the four members of the White family, all of whom were at Belleville school together in the long ago. Miss Nellie Patrick, of Dunsford, was also there.

A very pleasant surprise party was gotten up for Mrs. Walter Bell on October 3d, in honor of her natal day, and a very enjoyable time was had by the jolly bunch, who got this up and put it over to this popular young lady. A very hearty lunch was also included. May Mrs. Bell enjoy many more such happy events.

Our service on October 5th, was in the nature of a harvest blessing character, with several of our leaders voicing our most grateful thanks for such liberal blessings as God has given to all. Mrs. H. Whealy and Mrs. F. E. Doyle rendered a very appropriate duet.

Our Women's Association held its monthly meeting on October 9th, and passed upon several items in connection with our church. A thirty-five-cent social will be given in the gymnasium on Thanksgiving Day, November 10th.

Mrs. H. W. Roberts went out to her old home near Woodbridge, and spent several days with her aged mother and other relatives, returning home on October 15th.

The death occurred at the Weston Sanatorium of Miss Edna Hutchinson, who answered the Supreme Call on October 7th, in her twenty-fourth year. She was the youngest daughter of Mr. W. H. Hutchinson, who lost his hearing in the World War. By her death, Mr. Hutchinson loses his entire family but that dreaded malady T. B. His wife was the first to go, then his young son, Dalton, followed by his oldest daughter, Caroline, a trained nurse, then his second daughter, Mildred, and now Edna goes to that home of Eternal Beauty, Sunshine and Song. So overcome and downhearted was the father that he has now gone back to his old home in England, probably for good.

ST. THOMAS SIFTINGS

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smalldon, who have had their residence just outside this city for years past, are moving into a new home above Mr. Smalldon's shoe shop on Talbot Street, about the end of October.

The following is an account of the much talked of wedding of Clarence Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smalldon:—

SMALLDON—PALMER

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayon Palmer, Talbot Street east, was the scene of an exceptionally pretty fall wedding at 12 o'clock, noon, Wednesday, September 17th, when the former's sister, Etelle Palmer, became the bride of Clarence Harvey Smalldon, of Detroit, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Smalldon, St. George Street, St. Thomas. Rev. J. Nelson Gould, of Grace United Church, officiated at the ceremony, which took place in the flower-filled drawing room before a bank of tall palms and gladioli, interspersed with dahlias and asters. Miss Alice Spendlove, in a lovely gown of green crepe, with hat to match played the wedding march, and as the opening notes of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin were played the lovely young bride entered the drawing room before a bank of tall palms and gladioli, interspersed with dahlias and asters. She was lovely in a gown of white lace and chiffon fashioned on princess lines, with long skirt, and wearing a veil and customary orange blossoms, with gloves and shoes to match, and she carried a shower bouquet of pale pink Pernet roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Julia Giles attended as bridesmaid, wearing a dainty frock of pale pink chiffon and net, with mohair hat and matching slippers, while her bouquet was of darker shade of pink Pernet roses. Cecil Smalldon, of Harding Avenue, Detroit, attended his brother. Mrs. H. Palmer, mother of the bride, wore a smart gown of brown georgette with hat to match, while Mrs. Smalldon, mother of the groom, wore a handsome flowered gown of georgette. The groom's gift to the bride was a white gold Bulova watch, set with diamonds; to the bridesmaid, a set of crystal beads, to the best man, a signet ring; to the pianist, a sapphire ring. The bride was the recipient of many lovely and useful wedding gifts, including a cheque from the groom's parents. The profusion of beautiful autumn flowers which decorated the home for the ceremony were the gift of friends of the bride, members of the Flower Growers' Association. Following the ceremony, a reception was held and buffet refreshments were served from a beautifully appointed table centered with the bride's cake, lit by tall tapers in silver holders and decorated with silver bud vases of roses. Six friends of the bride served the luncheon, and to each the bride presented lovely hand-embroidered linen towels. They were Misses Doris Oake, Margaret Fillmore, Dorothy Waite, Margaret McArthur, Mrs. Agnes Price and Mrs. Eva Caldwell. Later the happy couple left, amid showers of confetti, for Montreal, traveling by way of Toronto and Quebec, and returning through the Adirondack mountains and American points. For traveling the bride wore a suit of beige broadcloth and eggshell satin blouse, with fox fur, the gift of her mother, and hot and shoes to match. On their return, they will make their home in Detroit. About fifty guests were in attendance at the wedding, including Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Erwin and family, Windsor; Mrs. Joseph Smith, London; Mr. and Mrs. W. Archibald, Johnstown; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Minor, Mapleton.

NIAGARA FALLS NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Roberts, of Toronto; Miss Helen A. Middleton and Mr. Paul Tuttle, of this city, spent the evening of October 3d, very pleasantly with Mr. and Mrs. William Hallett in Niagara Falls, N. Y., who served delicious refreshments before dispersing.

Next day Herbert Roberts paid a visit to Buffalo to see some relatives and incidentally made a call at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo. Coughlin. He found Mr. Coughlin a very busy man these days, working overtime.

The engagement of Miss Sylvia Caswell, of Stamford, two miles from this city, to Mr. George Bell, of St. Thomas, Ont., is announced. The wedding is to take place in the Stamford United Church on Saturday, November 8th, at 2:30 p.m. An account of this event will appear in these columns later.

Miss Barbara Mollinson, of this city, who has been going to the St. Mary's Institution in Buffalo the past few years, is now enrolled on the register of the Belleville school, and so far likes the change very much, though away from home.

Miss Helen A. Middleton and her guest, Mrs. H. W. Roberts, spent Saturday, October 4th, most enjoyably with Miss Sylvia Caswell and her folks in Stamford.

We regret we did not come across our old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Patterson, of Montreal, while they were sightseeing in this city, on October 4th.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hallett, of the American Falls, have certainly a most beautiful and luxurious home, due to their only son's ingenious idea, for it was Earl Hallett who drew the architectural design and selected the beautiful material employed in its construction. We congratulate our young friend, not only on his brainy ideas, but also upon his coming marriage in November to a winsome Canadian lass of Jordan, Ont.

Miss Thelma Davis, with her mother, brother and two sisters, all of Toronto, were calling on friends in this city, and in St. Catharines on Sunday, October 5th. They all made up a nice carload.

Miss Ellen Webber was home from the Rochester school for the week-end of October 10th, and had a pleasant time with her parents in LaSalle in the meantime.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hallett and son, Earl, motored down to Jordan and Hamilton, where they visited friends over Sunday, October 5th. Although they live in Uncle Sam's domains, they have a love for Canada into which they frequent jaunts.

There were quite a bunch of the deaf at the Shredded Wheat Company's free moving-picture entertainment in the company's auditorium in Niagara Falls, N. Y., on the evening of October 4th. Among them we noticed the Misses Iva and Mabel Ford and their good mother, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Webber, all of LaSalle; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tossell, of Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Miss Helen Middleton, of the Canadian Falls; Miss Sylvia Caswell, of Stamford, and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Roberts, of Toronto. Messrs. George Bell, Earl Eames, of St. Thomas, motored down and spent the week-end of October 5th, at the home of the former's fiancée, Miss Sylvia Caswell, in Stamford, and attended the Roberts meeting in St. Catharines.

On their way from this city to St. Catharines on October 5th, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Roberts, of Toronto, and Miss Helen A. Middleton and Mr. Edward Pilgrim, of this city, made a brief call on Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace on their fine fruit farm between St. David's and Homer and found them in good spirits.

Mr. H. W. Roberts, of Toronto, spoke on "Heeding His Counsel" at the Y. M. C. A. in St. Catharines on October 5th, and those present seemed to enjoy his sermon very much. Messrs. George Bell, Earl Eames, of St. Thomas; Edmund Pilgrim and Paul Tuttle and Miss H. A. Middleton, of this city; Miss Sylvia Caswell, of Stamford; were among those from a distance Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, who had been visiting friends here for that week-end left that Sunday evening for their home in Toronto.

GENERAL GLEANINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith and son, of Flint, Mich., arrived in River-view, Ont., on October 4th, for a visit to Mr. Smith's old home folks. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Middleton at Horning Mills in the meantime, and intend visiting Orillia, Toronto, and other points before going home.

All the deaf of Woodstock are steadily employed except Mr. Ben. Cone, who has not been so fortunate, but hopes he will catch on before long.

In sending in her renewal Miss Luella Simmons, of Wroxeter, has this to say of this paper, "Miss Lena Doubledee, who lives across the road, and I share in this interesting paper. We enjoy it very much and have been taking it for three years, and think we cannot do without it." Miss Simmons is another of the hundreds of Canadian readers who appreciate the JOURNAL.

Latest reports from Brantford state that Mr. Howard J. Lloyd is progressing very favorably at the hospital, but when he is able to leave, his devoted wife and parents insist on a good long rest for him in order to fully recuperate.

Miss Isabel Sherritt, of Corbetton, only sister of Miss Susie Sherritt, and Mr. Stephen Aldcorn, brother of Miss Barbara Aldcorn, were quietly married on October 18th, and they will make their home in Corbetton. Congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Fishbein and children, of London, motored down to Woodstock, on October 5th, and visited friends there. Later on they, with Mr. Charles A. Ryan and Miss Iva Hughes, took a rundown to Brantford to call and see their friend, Mr. Howard J. Lloyd at the hospital, and were pleased to find him progressing satisfactorily.

Mr. R. J. Williams, who went from Saskatoon to Regina some time ago, to accept a temporary position, has found the job seemingly permanent, so has removed his family and belongings to Regina. Mrs. Williams and little child spent a very delightful time at her parental home on the farm near Hazelcliff, Sask., before going to Regina. We wish our good friends every success in their new field.

HERBERT W. ROBERTS.

Mr. Fred Baars, whom many will remember as the instructor of printing in the Berkeley school some ten years ago, was a visitor in the East Bay district recently. He was on his way from Colorado to Hawaii, where he expects to make his future home. Mr. Baars appeared very much improved in health. In fact, it was not easy for some of his old friends to recognize him because of the extra flesh he has taken on.—Cal. News.

Doings in Detroit

The Old Maid's Show given by the Detroit Association of the Deaf on the nights of Saturday and Sunday, September 27th and 28th, was a success. About three hundred attended both nights. Those who took part, under the direction of Mrs. B. J. Beaver, are natural players. They did not have to be coaxed to act. It comes naturally to them to be actors. The beauty of it was in the fact they did not require constant rehearsing. Mrs. Beaver was the manager of the affair. The Detroit deaf are in hopes that the Detroit Association of the Deaf will give another roaring show in the near future.

Attended a special business meeting of St. John's Mission Saturday evening, September 20th. About thirty-five members were present and made elaborate arrangements for its successful development. They made their best to revive the spirit of the Mission. They will have a social on the second and fourth Fridays of each month for the benefit of the mission fund.

The following circular was distributed:—

YOUR CONTRIBUTIONS

Each member of the Mission is expected to contribute his or her share towards the up-keep and progress of the Mission, whether they are regular attendants or not, because we are all like one family in the house of God. God Himself asks this, through the Bible which He has given us to show us the way of Christianity: "They who preach the Gospel should live up to the Gospel." Let him who is taught in the Word communicate unto him that believeth in all good things.

It is evident that one who wishes to follow the Bible's teachings should contribute toward the Expenses of the Mission, for the Bible says give liberally as God has prospered you, according to your ability. In fact, He asks one-tenth of your material possessions allowing you nine times as much for yourself.

God also asks systematic or regular giving as it says in the Bible: Let every one on the first day of the week lay by him in store as God has prospered him.

This means all of us and what we cannot give in money, we must give in service for the Bible says that "Faith without works is dead."

The third floor of the Community House next to St. John's Church on Woodward Avenue, which was donated to the deaf ladies of the league and friends of St. John's Ephpheta Mission a year ago will be opened all the year round as a meeting place.

Mesdames Ball, Affeldt and Colby have been appointed to campaign to secure memberships and donations throughout the city of Detroit. In case those who do not wish to become permanent members of the League, they may make such small donation in money, which will be spent in furnishing the club.

We enjoyed greatly the dramatic entertainments given at St. John's Episcopal Parish House for the Benefit of the Community House fund Friday evening, October 10th, by the Detroit Association of the Deaf, of which Mrs. B. J. Beaver was chairman. "The Deacon's Sweetheart" was clever. "An American Harem" was laughable. Julian Eltinge, comic monologues. Juvenile dancing and illustrated songs were made appreciated. There were many good laughs mingled with tragic tears. For many years historic St. John's was the only religious and social meeting place for the deaf of Detroit. Many have shown their loyalty by attending this old-time social gathering. Refreshments were served. About two hundred in attendance. Several attractive dances and songs added materially to the success of the show, which won the applause and hearts of the deaf. A vote of thanks was tendered the Detroit Association of the Deaf and the committee.

The officers of the Michigan Association of the Deaf carried their fight to procure deaf drivers' licenses into Traffic Court Saturday, September 13th, with the result Judge Calendar has recommended that A. J. Simon (deaf) make application to the Police Department to test his capability to drive a car. A. J. Simon has been twice turned down without examination by the Police Department.

The business meeting of the M. A. D. was held with over one hundred deaf at the G. A. R. Hall Sunday, September 28th, from 2:30 to 6 o'clock. Messrs. Tripp and Lawerson, of Flint, were present. The members planned to form an auto Division under the M. A. D. urging all deaf auto owners to join to help them to fight for their rights. There are over seventy deaf auto owners in Detroit. The next meeting will be held on the first Sunday of November. The auto owners of Michigan State are asked to be present as several important transactions will be made.

On Sunday evening, September 7th, at 9 o'clock ex-Major John Smith, of Detroit, tried and true friend of the deaf gave a special message to the deaf of Detroit, at the hall of Cadillac Association of the Deaf, on Vermont Avenue. Mr. Smith's message was interpreted in the sign-language by a hearing son of Mr. and Mrs. LaPorte.

"An Angel of Love," an eight reel silent motion picture was shown October 5th, at 3 p.m., in Holy Redeemer Hall for the first time in Detroit. The picture was far above the average. Leda Gys was the leading character. Little Mario, six years old, was a wonderful actor. Striking scenes, the ruins of Pompeii, Vesuvius in action, and the Flight of the People, the miraculous restoration of sight to Angela (Leda.) A big attendance!

One afternoon last week a charming deaf lady left a friend's house on Jefferson Avenue, after an hour's visit and was annoyed to find her key would not open her Ford car door. She called a boy and with a piece of wire and much effort he crawled through the window and opened the door. Good gracious! The key would not turn on the ignition. She was about to get out and call the garage man, when a sudden and awful light dawned on her. It was not her car. Her car was twenty-five feet back. She is still wondering what she would have said had the owner of the car come along as she was attempting to drive away.

The Cadillac Association of the Deaf is located at 2254 Vermont Avenue, corner Michigan Avenue. It gives amusements every Saturday night and Sunday, all day and night. Bridge, bunco and "500" are played. It has taken third Saturday of each month. Prizes will be given every month to the winners from October to May. The charge being twenty-five cents for non-members and fifteen for members. Games or special features start at 8 p.m.

On Sunday night, October 5th, the bunco, bridge and "500" were hotly contested. Mrs. William Kirwin Liddy, of Canada, carried the highest score on "500" and was awarded with a pretty prize. Mr. and Mrs. Liddy are the staunch members of the C. A. D. Mrs. Liddy has just returned from a two months' staying in Bayview, Petosky, and other Northern Michigan points.

A surprise party was given in honor of Mrs. A. F. Heide's birthday, September 16th, at her apartment. A pleasant evening was capped by the serving of dainty refreshment.

We saw the flight of a large number of large red butterflies through the downtown section of Detroit in the direction of Woodward Avenue, and at a height of three stories above the ground.

Miss Carroll, fifteen-year-old adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eichoff, of Flint, known as a daughter of the "Regiment of the N. A. D." is very ill at the Ann Arbor Hospital.

The writer has secured several small skulls, rare ornaments for her Washington friends. Some people here were horrified at the thought of wearing such a thing as an ornament, but most of my young lady friends thought it was cute. The miniature skull was a perfect reproduction, and was one of a necklace of sixty skulls brought from Africa by a missionary. The dealer who purchased the necklace thought it rather extreme even for the new generation, "so he took it apart and sold the skulls singly."

Some good news for Detroit unemployed deaf. The Beet Sugar Campaign opened in Michigan last week. The campaign will last till first of December, and will provide employments of 500.

The great change in appearance of the approach to Belle Isle is remarkably beautiful since the removal of the Amusement Park. The writer and her daughter drove almost every morning before breakfast to Belle Isle with bags of peanuts for the squirrels and pheasants.

Miss Helen Keller was an interesting and principal speaker Wednesday, October 8th, at the Fall meeting of the Junior League, where the cottage home for blind children was dedicated. Several times the writer planned to visit the Michigan School for the Deaf in Flint, since she was in Michigan, but unfortunately it rained.

A lawn party in honor of the writer given by the MacLachlan family at Doctor MacLachlan's place in Grosse Island, September 7th, was a swell affair, though the writer detained in Chicago. Odd games were played and costly prizes were given. A picnic dinner prepared by the hostess was served.

A reception was given by Mrs. A. F. Heide, September 8th. Mrs. Vernier and son, Bob, of Washington, D. C., were present. Also several dinner parties and card parties were given in honor of the writer by the following in their respective homes: Mr. and Mrs. Heymanson, September 9th; Mr. and Mrs. Ryan, September 11th; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Buxton, September 29th; Mr. and Mrs. H. Brown, October 3d; Miss Stark, October 5th; Mr. and Mrs. Heymanson, October 9th; Mr. and Mrs. Heide, October 12th; (Mrs. Vernier, of Washington, D. C., attended); Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Kenney, October 11th.

Mrs. P. R. Vernier arrived in Detroit, October 11th, to accompany the writer home to Washington, D. C., and wishes to thank the old friends for their ever loving thoughtfulness and hospitable entertaining.

MRS. C. C. COLBY.

A Resolution

At a meeting of Columbus Division, No. 18, National Fraternal Society of the Deaf, held October 7th, 1930, the following resolution was adopted.

WHEREAS, The sudden and untimely passing from this life of Dr. John William Jones, late superintendent of the Ohio State School for the Deaf, has plunged us into deep mourning; and,

WHEREAS, Dr. Jones was a friend of the combined system, dear to the hearts of the deaf, and exhibited his trust in them through employment at the school; and,

WHEREAS, Dr. Jones always had a kindly feeling, interest in and courtesy to our Division, and had won a lasting place in our hearts; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we the members of Columbus Division, No. 18, N. F. S. D., extend to Mrs. J. W. Jones our sincere appreciation of the many kindness of Dr. J. W. Jones in permitting us the privileges of holding our many socials, etc., on the Institution grounds in the past; and,

Resolved, That the members of our Division, No. 18, do bow in submission to the will of the Supreme Being in the passing of our friend and extend to the bereaved Mrs. J. W. Jones and family our sincere sympathy in this their hour of sorrow; and, be it further

Resolved, That we the members of Columbus Division, No. 18, N. F. S. D., direct that a copy of these resolutions be presented to the family of the late Dr. John W. Jones as an expression of our grateful appreciation of his help and guidance in his lifetime; and

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be sent to the Ohio Chronicle, the American Deaf Citizen and the Deaf-Mutes' Journal for publication and that a copy be spread upon the minutes of this Division.

Difference in Time

One loses an hour or so, or gains the same time, according as he travels West or East, the amount of time lost or gained depending on the length of the journey. It is puzzling, a bit, to know just where the change takes place. There are really four zones in the United States and clock time is the same in any one zone, no matter how far North or how far South the place may be. Everything East of the city of Pittsburgh is called Eastern time; between Pittsburgh and Chicago it is Central time; between Chicago and Denver Mountain time, and from Denver to the Pacific Coast Western time. The sun really rises an hour later in Pittsburgh than in New York, two hours later in Chicago, three hours later Denver and four hours later on the Pacific, so when it is six in New York it is five in Pittsburgh, four in Denver and three in Los Angeles. The earth as a whole is divided into twenty-four zones, so if one were to travel around the globe in a westerly direction he would lose an entire day—of clock time—but would gain it back, when returning and traveling East.

The brazil nut grows in a heavy shell like a cocoanut shell except that it is smooth, and the meat of the nut is arranged within the shell like the parts of an orange.

EARLY this month a fire in the School for the Deaf, at Portland, Maine, resulted in damage to the dining room of one of the buildings to the extent of an estimated loss of one thousand dollars. There were one hundred deaf children in the refectory a short time before the fire occurred, who had gone to their classrooms in another building, so that any accident brought about through possible panic was avoided. The firemen had to tear away a portion of the ceiling to get at the blaze, which was caused by a defective flue.

Deaf Compete at Sports

A "Spartiad," as national track and field meetings are called in Russia, for deaf and dumb athletes was held in Moscow in June.

Over 1,000 youths and girls from all the special schools in the country competed. A delegation was also present from Germany.

The festival combined physical with mental exercises. A program of cinemas and theatre performances was arranged for the delegates in the evenings.—Silent Missionary.

OMAHA

Miss Mary Dobson is now head supervisor of girls at the Iowa school. Gregory Kratzberg has charge of the youngest boys. He was a No. 1 baseball pitcher with a Council Bluffs team last summer.

Prof. F. H. Hughes, of Gallaudet, and Mrs. Regina Olson Hughes, visited her relatives at Herman, Neb. Michael Lapides, Mr. Hughes, and Chester Dobson, of Council Bluffs, were guests of the Kappa Gamma boys at supper in Council Bluffs, one evening. Chester Dobson has been appointed head senior of the boys at Gallaudet. This youngest member of the Dobson family, all deaf, is as popular as he is modest and unassuming. A regular "chip of the old block."

Mr. F. W. Booth presided at the meetings of the "Conference of Executives." Mr. Alvin E. Pope, former head of the N. S. D., stopped in Omaha on his way back east. Mr. Bray and Mr. Gruver visited the Iowa school, where the latter was given a big ovation by his former pupils. Dr. Long and Mr. Tom L. Anderson were the only deaf men at the conference. Other schools would profit by following Iowa's example. All in favor, say "aye."

Messrs. Edwin Hazel, Eugene McConnell and Riley Anthony attended the Weinie Roast at Des Moines, Ia., on Saturday evening, October 4th.

Robert E. Dobson decided to get away from Omaha during his vacation. He took his family in the ancient flyver to Chariton, Ia., visiting relatives and friends, then they went to Des Moines, Ia., to meet a bunch of his old cronies, and attended the Frats' midnight Weinie Roast on October 5th. They made the trip in safety o.k., and "Lizzie" still functions in spite of several years of good service.

Karel Macek bought a new Ford sedan, after driving the old bus around for seven years. He and Messrs. Dobson, Kloppling and Anthony, call themselves the "Benson Ford Club," and keep the four cars in good running condition. This is contrary to the popular opinion that hearing is necessary in such cases.

The Saskatchewan School for the Deaf

By R. J. D. Williams

It is not the purpose of this article to describe fully the above school as it eventually will be, but rather to relieve the uneasiness prevalent among relatives of our deaf children concerning the construction of this school. Quite a number of worried parents have written, asking if it is actually being built at Saskatoon. This uncertainty was brought about when the government found it necessary to send our deaf children east for another term.

THE LOCATION

The government would, if circumstances had permitted, have had the school ready for occupancy this year. Times were prosperous when we urged the establishment of this school, but soon after the decision to build it had been arrived at, along came conditions of an unusual nature which affected not only Saskatchewan but the whole world. The government took into consideration the urgency of building the school at an early date, and made a beginning in the fall of 1929 when the location was finally decided, said location being a site about three hundred yards south of the street car terminus in front of the university property at Saskatoon.

PLANS THAT CHANGED

Once the site question had been settled, interest was livened up, and the press carried items quite often concerning the government's activity in the matter. Plans were laid to start excavation work early, and the hauling of native stone to the site throughout the winter of 1929-30 was also suggested, in order to relieve the unusual employment situation prevailing at that time, but first the architects had to prepare plans which would meet both the needs of such school as well as prevailing conditions. Further economy had to be thought of. Previously the government had announced the building of a school, the cost of which would run between $800,000 and $1,000,000, but later investigation proved that an excellent building could be constructed for a sum under these figures, and accordingly new plans were drawn up.

THE NEW CONSIDERED

These new plans called for a single building, complete in itself, instead of two separate buildings. The educated deaf would rather see a separate building for academical and vocational training, in order to be up-to-date like some of the most progressive schools on the continent, but they are nevertheless of the opinion that it is wiser to have a school that will ultimately adequately meet the needs of the education of the deaf than to have no school at all in the province.

HAPPINESS THE KEYNOTE

Our school, when completed, will be one of the finest of its kind on the continent. The writer is sure he is not saying too much here, for he had the privilege of checking up the original sketches with the architects. There will be facilities not possessed by other schools, and every effort is being made by the government to make the school as homelike as possible, for the happiness and comfort of the pupils and staff alike.

The school will be bordered on the west and north sides by seven rows of several kinds of trees, planted some years ago by the experimental department of the horticultural department of the University. The school will face on Cumberland Ave.

Later on we hope to be able, through the kindness of the architects, to supply the press with a descriptive write-up of the school and its facilities. The present time seems to be too premature for such an article.

OPENING DELAYED

We think it would be pertinent to state in this article that it was Premier Anderson's hope to be able to open the school in January, 1931. In fact, a letter from him early in the spring indicated such a wish, and proved that his government had planned to send no more children to Montreal this term, and those going to the Winnipeg school were to return to our province after the Christmas term, but the Premier's intentions were upset when it was found impossible for the Manitoba school to accept our children for part of the present term only. Probably it was well the Premier, who has always been opposed to the idea of educating our deaf children in the east, acceded to the request of the Manitoba school; and also rather than see the other children miss a term's schooling, sent them to Montreal, for since making these arrangements it has been found that our school could not have been completed by January, 1931.

A SCHOOL THAT IS DIFFERENT

It must be remembered that this school will be altogether different from a large city public school, in that it is to provide residential accommodation for about one hundred and fifty pupils, the supervising staff, and the help, besides provision for academical and vocational training, laundry and various other facilities usual to a school of this type. Not many people realized the hugeness of the constructional job of this school until after the work had actually started. The writer was a visitor to the site on the first of September and was surprised at the speed being made with the construction.

In conclusion, we would encourage parents, who had to send their children so far away for another term, to be patient and courageous for the sake of the education these children may reap. The writer has always been of the opinion that God watches over all little ones who have to leave home.

Cornerstone Laid

The corner stone of Saskatchewan's $400,000 school for the deaf was laid Saturday afternoon, September 27th, by Premier J. T. M. Anderson in the presence of other representatives of the government, the city, the provincial university, hospital and school boards, the Saskatoon Board of Trade, the Western Canadian Association of the Deaf, and other citizens.

Cement structural work of the building is now practically complete, brick work is also well advanced and the building will be closed in by November 1st. Materials used are almost entirely of Saskatchewan origin.

The cost of the building, without equipment is $401,901. Hon J. F. Bryant, K. C., provincial minister of public works, who was chairman at the ceremony yesterday, described the structure. It is three stories in height; the main part of the building is 227 feet in frontage, with wings extending an additional 130 feet; it has fireproof walls, floors and stairs, contains fifteen teaching rooms with accommodations for 150 students, has an auditorium that can seat 400 persons, and has heating equipment adapted to the use of the type of coal mined in Saskatchewan. In addition to ordinary school subjects, it will be possible to give technical training in arts and industries. Mr. Bryant pointed out that the great majority of the expenditure of the province on educational buildings had been at Saskatoon, the seat of the provincial university.

Deaf children from Saskatchewan had previously been sent to schools in Manitoba and Quebec, it was pointed out by Hon. Howard McConnell, K. C., provincial treasurer. Others who spoke at the ceremony included Dr. W. C. Murray, president of the university; Mayor John W. Hair and Dr. J. S. Huff, superintendent of education for Saskatchewan. David Peikoff, of Winnipeg, was the official representative of the Western Canada Association of the Deaf, and paid great tribute to the provincial government for constructing the school.

The cornerstone bears this legend: "School for the Deaf. This stone was laid by the Honorable J. T. M. Anderson, M.A., L.L.B. D. Paed., Premier of Saskatchewan, September 27th, A.D. 1930."

The school is situated on university property and is near the buildings and farm plots of the College of Agriculture.

OHIO

News items for this column can be sent to B. M. Edgar, 56 Latta Avenue, Columbus, Ohio.

"October turned my maple's leaves to gold;
The most are gone now; here and there one lingers;
Soon these will slip from under the twig's weak hold,
Like coins between a dying miser's fingers."

October, beautiful as it is, seems to be the month of farewell to the woods and all wild things. Many thought the drought of this summer would mean that the fall would be minus its lovely woods, but such is not so, as the trees are as gorgeous as ever; even right here in the city many lovely maple and ash trees are to be seen.

The members of the Board of Managers had their annual meeting Friday, October 10th, and the next day another meeting was held at the Home, and a good dinner was served to them there. Messrs Bacheberle and Ayers, from out of town were present. Four new members were elected to fill vacancies caused by death. Those chosen were Rev. F. S. Smielau, of Columbus, and all over Ohio; Mr. Nelson Snyder, of Dayton; Mr. C. Jacobson of Columbus (who was transplanted into Ohio some years ago, from the northwest); and Mr. Fred. Schwartz, Columbus, who has been active in supporting the Home for many years. Aside from the usual yearly business the suggestions made by the Women's Board of Visitors were considered.

A new resident at the Home is Mr. William Geiger, of Cincinnati, who is sixty-four years old, and has a son still in school here.

Rev. F. C. Smielau's services in Columbus October 12th, brought out a large audience. He never seems to preach—just talks to his listeners and never has to talk to empty seats. During his talk he spoke well of Dr. Jones.

The Columbus Frats, with brothers from nearby towns enjoyed a smoker Saturday evening, October 11th, with ninety-five present. Mr. K. B. Ayers, who seems to be right on the spot at any time, was present. Hugh Wright came with Mrs. Wright and a young son. The two latter with Hugh, Jr., and Emma from the school, visited at the Crossen home till near midnight. Then all motored to Lancaster to spend Sunday with Mrs. Wright's aged father.

Miss Ada Lauver, who graduated a few years ago, is now girls' supervisor, and is doing good work.

The football team from the Ohio Sailor's and Soldier's Orphan Home at Xenia met our team on the school grounds Saturday and came off victors 7 to 6. Those who witnessed the game called it a good one. Coach Miller has many new players to drill this year.

At the chapel service Wednesday, October 8th, Mr. A. B. Greener occupied the platform and gave a talk on the school's progress under Dr. Jones.

Rev. Collins Sawhill has been forced by age and illness to give up his ministry in Cleveland, where he had charge of St. Agnes' Mission for several years. For the present this mission will be looked after by Rev. Smielau.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Kennedy, formerly of New Jersey, but now living in Columbus, are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a daughter last week to gladden their home.

The Columbus Ladies' Aid Society meets October 16th, and final plans will be made for their Halloween social November 1st, in the girls' recreation hall at the school. A chicken dinner at fifty cents a plate, will be served, and there will be the usual attractions to draw out the money from your pocketbooks, but it is all for a good cause.

Among the recent visitors in Columbus was Mr. Wesley Bennett, of St. Louis, who was called to Woodstock, O., October 4th, on account of the death of his father. Mr. Bennett is a printer in the weather bureau at St. Louis.

The Columbus Branch, N. A. D., will honor the new national president, Rev. Smielau, with an outing at the Ohio Home Saturday, October 18th. Mr. Frederick Moore will also be a guest of honor, and no doubt both gentlemen will give stirring talks. The new school bus will be used to transport folks to the Home. The young ladies of the Wednesday evening club will be ready with refreshments for the crowd.

Mrs. Frederick Schwartz, Margaret Heyl, died at her residence in Bexley, a suburb of Columbus, Sunday afternoon, October 12th, after a long illness, although she never gave up her daily tasks till a few weeks ago, when weakness forced her so to do. Mrs. Schwartz was descended from an old pioneer family of Columbus. A great-uncle, a highly educated man, founded the first private school in Columbus, where the old Trinity Parish House stood. His school was known as the Heyl Seminary, and was attended by girls from the best families in Columbus at that time. Mrs. Schwartz leaves, aside from her husband, two daughters, Miss Ruth Schwartz, a teacher, and Mrs. Margaret Benadum, two brothers and two sisters. Funeral services were October 14th, and burial was in lovely Greenlawn Cemetery. She was a faithful worker for the Ohio Home, and a member of the Columbus Ladies' Aid Society. I believe she was a charter member of the society. She was always a modest, quiet person, devoted to her family.

September 21st, being the birthday anniversary for Mrs. Woolley, of Hamilton, about twenty friends gathered at her lovely home to let her know they remembered the day. Many useful and pretty gifts were given her and all were treated to a delicious feast. Mrs. Woolley soon leaves for a visit in Coral Gables, Fla. Somehow, Florida attracts many of the Ohio deaf to spend the winter season.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Moore and family, of Columbus, were guests recently of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Steele, of Akron. Mr. Moore's friends noticed how well Columbus and Worthington air is agreeing with him. Mr. Louis Bacheberle, of Cincinnati, was highly honored by the Kemper-Thomas Company, for whom he has worked forty years. They celebrated his birthday in fine style. The president of the company presented Mr. Bacheberle, with a handsome wrist watch saying: "With it goes all the love we can give."

The secretary and general manager made the following speech:—"Forty years of service! It is a long time and to me it means more than just forty years of a certain number of hours each. A man who continues with a single firm for forty years must possess some very sterling qualities. He must have a firm foundation of character under his feet and a good common sense head on his shoulders. His inner qualities must be wrought from sterling metal, not from any base imitation. He must have integrity of purpose and ability of execution. More than this he must have confidence and faith in the company he works for and the work he does, and an understanding mind to aid in carrying out the policies they may outline.

"Such a man we have with us tonight and I feel we can pay him no compliment too high. He has been loyal and faithful and has lived with us as one of our big fellows and tonight we feel very proud of him. Mr. Bacheberle, you are the father of all of our Old Timers Club, and in view of this fact and of the high regard felt for you by the members of those clubs, they have requested me tonight to present you with this little Loving Cup. I hope it may be filled with the wine of happiness, health and prosperity, during all your years to come."

Surely Mr. Bacheberle can now carry his head higher than ever.

Mrs. John W. Jones is now able to leave her rooms, and is taking charge of things for the present. Just who will be appointed to take Dr. Jones' place is not yet known, but all are hoping some one who will favor the combined system will be superintendent. Dr. Jones always stood for that method, as he realized that all the deaf could not progress under the oral method. Dr. Jones believed in the deaf, and gave many of them position of trust in his school. Surely the deaf lost a true friend when Dr. Jones died, and his place will be hard to fill. It always made him feel proud to have former students visit the school and he seldom forgot any faces or names. The one who takes his place will find a strong alumni association ready to help him if he favors the combined system. Many of the teachers, the household people and the pupils, would like to see Principal Abernathy promoted to the superintendency. He favors the combined school, and he knows all the plans made by Dr. Jones to better the shop training departments and to keep the standard of the school. Mr. Abernathy has always since being principal been interested in the deaf.

The daily papers stated that in Dr. Jones' will, probated last week, he left his entire estate to his widow, Mrs. Cora Jones. The estate was estimated to be $16,000. E.

FANWOOD

The members of the Senior High Class, including two from the Junior High Class, gave the first Fanwood Literary Association program of the term 1930 to 1931 in the chapel on the evening of Thursday, October 16th. Below is the program:—

1. Story—"The Child's Dream of a Star" Oscar Benison
2. Story—"The Mistletoe Bride" Ernest Marshall
3. Debate: Resolved, That a business career is more suitable for women than marriage. Affirmative—Lena Getman Negative—Bertha Marshall
4. Original Story—"An Eye for an Eye" Felix Kowalewski
5. Reading—"The Frog Princess" Bertha Marshall
6. Story—"Obedience" George Salamandi
7. Reading—"Geirrod and Agnar" William Rayner
8. Historical Romance—"By Order of the King" Albert Pyle
9. Dialogue E. Marshall and F. Kowalewski

Ernest Marshall and Oscar Benison's stories were rather pathetic but quite interesting.

The debate was won by the negative side 3 to 2.

Felix Kowalewski, William Rayner, Bertha Marshall and George Salamandi's stories were well told. Felix's was very interesting, with lots of thrilling adventures.

Albert Pyle's story was about a "laughing man," a mountebank, who was poor and was made Peer of England. The story had a sad ending.

The dialogue was very good and won lots of applause.

As there are eighteen members in both the Senior and Junior High Class, there are two programs to be given by them. The Juniors will give their program in the near future.

On Thursday morning, October 16th, the cadets lined up for dress parade. The morning was brisk and clear, with the sun shining brightly. Major Van Tassel and Captain Altenderfer gave good talks about deportment in the school of the soldier, and stressed on the duties of those who are officers.

Promotions were then made in the battalion and the band. The cadet officers of the battalion for the ensuing year are as follows:—

A Company:—William Rayner, Captain; George Salamandi, Lieut.; Oscar Benison, First Sergeant; George Herbst and Sandy Tedesco, Sergeants; Vladimir Mazur, Frank Pusefski and Alexander Ovary, Corporals.

B Company:—Felix Kowalewski, Lieutenant; Samuel Kalmanowitz, First Sergeant; Vincent Sherman, and Michael Cairano, Sergeants; Oscar Norflus, James LaSala, and William Abbott, Lance Corporals.

Band:—Ernest Marshall, Lieutenant; Albert Capocci, Drum Major; Albert Pyle, Sergeant; Louis Balkoski, Louis Fucci, and Albert Verdichio, Corporals.

Charles Boynton, Mr. Van Tassel's nephew, made a visit over the week-end. It is several months since his last visit. He reports his subscription business is prospering. He uses a typewriter in his work writing to magazine people. On every visit he calls at the various departments. He envies the boys' facilities for sports and good times.

Mr. F. A. De Peyster and Mr. Louis E. Bishop, of the Visiting Committee of the Board of Directors called on Tuesday afternoon.

Albert Boyajian went to Sunnyside, L. I., last Monday, October 13th, to attend the birthday party in honor of his cousin. His cousin received many fine gifts. Albert had an enjoyable time there.

Mr. Derald Loomis was an interested visitor here last week. He graduated from the Jacksonville, Ill., School for the Deaf. At present he is a student in a hearing college out in the west. He is staying in New York for two weeks or so. ALBERT PYLE

On Thursday, October 9th, Mrs. Voorhees, the girls' gymnasium instructor, took her Thursday morning class to Dyckman St. to play miniature golf and archery. They all reported having a very fine time. Also on Tuesday, October 14th, she took her Tuesday afternoon class to play golf. They also had an excellent time.

Last Sunday, Clara Herman and Bertha Marshall went with Jennie Elliot, a graduate of last year, to see a football game in Astoria, L.I. It was the first game they ever saw, and they still can't understand why the men hug each other all the time.

Saturday, Oct. 18th, Rita Kerrigan had a birthday party at her home in the Bronx. Twelve girls were invited. There were dancing, games and refreshments. All had an excellent time.

The B. A. A. held a meeting in the girls' study hall on October 8th. The B. A. A. is growing fast, and this year there is more vigor and energy displayed by the girls. They have all kinds of games to play now, both for indoors and outdoors.

Saturday, October 11th, a surprise "sweet sixteen" birthday party was tendered by Mr. and Mrs. Reston to their daughter, Peggy. She was very much surprised and happy. About fifteen schoolmates were present. A wonderful time was had by all. She received many gifts. BERTHA MARSHALL.

CHICAGO

Firemen put out a blaze in the luxurious apartment of Ann McGann, past president of the Illinois Alumni Association and known as a charming convention sign-singer, October 7th. She detected the odor of smoke before the fire gained much headway, or the damage would have been serious.

Samuel Frankenheim, the popular bond-broker of New York City, hit town on the 8th—his third trip to Chicago this year. The Ben Franks tendered him a party on the 11th, attended by a lot of the socially elite. The next day the Meaghers gave him a dinner-party, followed by a social evening, where nearly two dozen assembled to honor the man who made Buffalo's De l'Epee statue a reality. It is Frankenheim's first trip from home since his operation for appendicitis immediately following his last visit in May. He left to return via Akron the next day.

On Frankenheim's last visit, four auto-loads took him out to a birthday picnic for Pearl Dahl at a Woodland Lake. Three days later Pearl was suddenly summoned to the bedside of her sister in Minnesota, where she has since run the farm. Pearl returned two days after Frankenheim arrived, and they stood for considerable joking at the coincidence. Ingvall Dahl, who has been backing since his wife's departure, is enthusiastic at the prospect of getting three square meals a day again.

Ann McGann announces negotiations for an appearance of the new N. A. D. president, the Rev. Franklin C. Smielau, before the Pas-a-Pas Club November 9th, have fallen through. He was to give his new sign-feast, "Tales of Humor."

Mrs. Mary Walter served luncheon to fourteen, at the October 8th assembly of the Ladies' Aid of the M. E. The Rev. Constance Hasenstab Eimes was present and gave an interesting discourse on her admittance as the first full-fledged woman M. E. elder in the United States.

The Sunshine Club had its monthly meeting at Mrs. Matt Schuetler's on the 9th.

On the 10th, Mesdames Meinken, McGann and Meagher, surprised Mrs. Edna Carlson with a birthday party, seventeen ladies attending. She received a purse of ten dollars.

Following a card social, conducted by Chi-Oral-106, at the new headquarters of All Angels' on the 11th, David J. Padden emerged to find his Ford coupe had been stolen. The loss was reported to the police.

The first "500" and bunco party held by Chicago Division, No. 106, for the Fall season, October 11th, at Community Center for the Deaf, (otherwise under supervision of All Angels' Mission), was filled to capacity and quite a few were turned away. The affair was gratifying in quality and attendance, despite the other three parties held elsewhere, and it was really the first and last party held by an outside organization at this particular place, as All Angels' Mission will move next week to new quarters, just around the corner at St. James Parish House, Huron Street. Church services will be held in St. Andrew's Chapel of St. James Church, said to be one of the finest chapels in the country. Their famous Wednesday socials will be announced later.

The popular craze for indoor golf is beginning to be felt among the deaf, particularly the oral young boys, who have recently organized "106 Golf Club," with John Davis, Hugo Pulver,

F. Hinrichs, Earl Nelson, H. Haarvig and Gordon Rice as first members. They soon were followed by Ralph Weber, George Pick and Abe Harris. Ralph Weber, this date, is the newest golf champion with the score of 44 par to his credit, as against 47 of F. Hinrichs, and 49 of John Davis. This game was a midnight affair, played two successive nights Friday, October 10th, and Saturday, October 11th. On the top of this craze comes the epidemic of baby mustaches, now grown by young kids everywhere.

Central Oral Club will give its usual "500" and bunco party on the second, Sunday, November 9th, under charge of Misses Valeria Zertara and Eugenia Kevansiewski at Occidental Hall, 14 N. Sacramento Boulevard.

Mrs. August Whiteman, whose sickness was mentioned in the last issue, died Saturday, October 11th, at 11 A.M., following a painful operation, in which many gallstones were found. She was educated at the Ephpheta School for the Catholic Deaf, and was married to Mr. Whiteman, a graduate of the Michigan deaf school. She was buried Tuesday, October 14th. She was a member of the Catholic deaf club, and will sadly be missed by those who knew and loved her.

The Rev. Mrs. C. H. Elmes preached at the M. E. Mission Sunday, October 12th, with the usual attendance, during the absence of her father, Rev. Hasenstab, who conducted a church service for the deaf on the same date. He went Louisville, Ky., to preach before a gathering of deaf-mutes the next day.

John Harregan, a fifteen years old deaf-mute, was killed near his home last Friday, when he ran on the street into the side of a coal truck. According to witnesses, the boy was trying to "flip a ride" on another truck, and did not see the one which killed him. He fell under the wheels and was pinned there. The fire department was called to extricate him. The driver was not held.

Mrs. Grace Mercer, who was widowed by the death of her husband, who died long ago, was admitted temporarily at the Home for the Aged Deaf two weeks ago, until Superintendent Mrs. Hyman looks over her condition to determine whether she is too old to work. She is about sixty years old.

The Chicago Council, No. 1 of C. K. L. D. held a monthly session Sunday, October 12th, followed by a "500" and bunco party in the evening. Some of them got free admission to the party by bringing in some groceries and articles for a Christmas sale.

Mrs. Josephine Baker, about seventy years old and deaf, was struck and killed by a train at the Keystone Crossing of the St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Line Monday, October 13th. While walking across the track, she failed to hear the approaching train and was knocked off. She lived at 1000 Keystone Avenue, River Forest, Ill., near Chicago.

The Ephpheta School for the Catholic deaf, as well as the oral deaf schools, were closed in observance of Columbus Day.

Attorney Quin O'Brien, a brother of Patrick, returned October 8th, from Pittsburgh, Pa., where he delivered a lecture. His picture and address appeared in the Pittsburgh daily.

Mrs. George Fraser was visiting her old chum, Mrs. Amelia Wedekind, in Fernwood, Ill., last week. Mrs. Wedekind's cousin, living in the same city, gave a nice luncheon, in honor of Mrs. Fraser, who enjoyed her company.

Mrs. Fraser invited Mesdames Schroeder, Riall, Wedekind, Hanks and Bernstein, to enjoy a gathering at her lovely home some time ago. She has a pretty bunaglow house and lawn.

Phillis Smith, an inmate of the Home for Aged Deaf, visited her old friends in Roseland, Ill., last week.

Mrs. A. Wedekind called on Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Des Rocher last Friday, and had a pleasant chat.

WISCONSIN NOTES

Superintendent T. Emery Bray, of the Wisconsin deaf school, returned from attending the conference of Superintendents and Principals of the deaf schools last week. While stopping off at Council Bluffs, Ia., on his return, he spent several days with his daughter, Gwetholyn, a teacher at the Iowa deaf school.

D. T. Cloud, superintendent of the Illinois deaf school, stopped off at Olathe, Kan., to visit his old friends on his return from the conference. The Wisconsin deaf school grid team added another victory to its list, by defeating St. Mary's at Woodstock, Ill., Saturday, October 4th, by a score of 12 to 0. Then they went to Waukesha, Wis., Saturday, October 11th, to play the Waukesha Industrials.

According to a recent report received at the Wisconsin deaf school, the Iowa and Minnesota deaf schools played football to a scoreless tie Saturday, October 4th.

The great desire for an automobile prompted Donald Booher, a former pupil of the Wisconsin deaf school, to drive off with a car from the Rock River Motor Company at Janesville, Wis., last Saturday. He failed to return the auto until the next day, when he was arrested, but later released.

GALLAUDET COLLEGE

By Andy Mack and Alice McGunn

With the cold wintry blasts beginning to settle on Kendall Green, loyal and stout-hearted Gallaudetans are bringing forth old woollens and slickers from the protecting shield of mothballs.

Final results in the recent re-examinations of failures made last June have been announced and almost everyone is happier by degrees. It is certain that the "weeding process" performed during the selection of candidates for admission has done much to raise the scholastic standard of the college as a whole. Very few failures have been reported during the year just past. This is taken as evidence that the student body is improving in quality, while the size remains practically the same.

A very busy week, at least for the girls, has just passed. One of the best meetings of the Y. W. C. A. was held in Fowler Hall with Professor Harley D. Drake taking the spotlight with his lecture on the stock situation of Wall Street. Just why Prof. Drake is not a prosperous stock broker is beyond human power to understand. His rendition of "Hetty Green the Woman of Wall Street," gave the girls a good deal to talk about for some time. Miss Lucy Buchanan, '34, opened the meeting with a prayer, while Catherine Bronson, '32, rendered a beautiful hymn, "Abide With Me."

With a large attendance, the most successful annual O. W. L. S. banquet was held at the Downtown Y. W. C. A. Building last week. A long list of alumni, including fifteen regular members and one honorary, were added to the roster of twenty-five college girls.

A delicious menu left no doubt but that the whole affair was a great success. Miss Grace Davis, '31, was the acting toastmistress. Miss Emily Sterck, '20, delivered the main address of the evening, entitled: "O thou precious Owl! The wise Minerva's only fowl!" What she said is only for the girls to know.

An official welcome to all was extended to the audience by Miss Geneva Florence, '32, in her short discourse: "Welcome Old and New."

Miss Florence Bridges, '34, that coming mistress of signs from the old state of Bama, closed the evening's exercise with a response: "Ten to one we shall not find like opportunity." Miss Bridges is one of the best signers in the newer crop of undergraduates.

Visitors were Dean Peet, the Misses Edith Nelson, '14; Ruth Atkins, '18, of Washington; Emily Sterck, '20, of Baltimore; Dorothy Denlinger, '30, of New York; Lera Roberts, '29, of Frederick; and the Mesdames Percival Hall, Sr. '00; Frederick H. Hughes, '18; Harley D. Drake, '05; James Davidson, '28; Roy Stewart, '17; Thomas Wood, ex-'26; Eugene Hannan, '97; John R. Wallace, '23, and Herdtfelder, both residing in Baltimore. Friday evening, the annual initiation of the Sorority gave full membership standing to the following girls: Gladys MacDonald, '33; of Connecticut; Elvira Wohlstrom, '33, Maryland; Lucille Jones and Florence Bridges, '34, of Alabama; Mary Beth Riker, '34, of Colorado; Jean Peterson, '34, of Canada, and Isobel Swope, '34, of Pennsylvania.

Miss Dorothy Denlinger, '30, of New York, last year's head senior, spent the week-end among her old friends in Fowler Hall. During the summer she toured California, later motoring overland to Wisconsin, from which place she journeyed to her Alma Mater. She expects to return to New York soon.

Friday evening the Literary Society will present the first of a series of intramural debates to decide the college championship. This time the Frosh will be pitted against the Sophomores on the question: Resolved: That the small college or university is of greater benefit to the individual student than the large college or university." The Frosh will take the negative side, while the Sophs will uphold the affirmative. The winners will later meet the winner of the Junior-Senior debate. Only the poor Preps will be left out in the cold to learn the ways of their higher collegiate brothers.

With the program consisting mainly of Gallaudet students, the N. F. S. D. held Ladies' Night at the Washington Masonic Temple last Saturday evening. A record attendance of about two hundred witnessed the widely diversified program arranged by the committee, consisting of Albert J. Rose, Chairman; Messrs. Werdig, Ferguson and Scott. The program:—

"The Boy of a Thousand Faces" Mr. Taylor
"The Tiger or the Lady" Prof. H. D. Drake
Lincoln's Gettysburg Address Miss Mary Koehn, '33
"Four Ages"—18th, 19th, 20th, 21st
Centuries Messrs. Brown, '34; O'Brien, '32; Dobson, '31; and Cosgrove, '31.
"A Real Lady" Miss Audie Rogers Monologue
"Mike, the Irish Comedian Withless" Seth Crockett, '34
"The Farmer to New York City" Walter Greenberg, '31

Seth Crockett's monologue was easily the best part of the program. Incidentally Crockett is the sixth cousin of that illustrious frontiersman and patriot, Davy Crockett, made famous by the "Alamo," in Texas story and lore.

While the boys were enjoying themselves at the N. F. S. D. meeting, the Prep girls, as a part of their initiation into college life, gave a play in the Fowler Hall reading room, entitled "A Night of Terror." Starting out bravely enough, by the time it was half over, the girls were ready to call out the police reserves, for the mystery and intrigue uncovered was enough to provide material for six big detective novels. Besides having had no practice, the play had been made up by the Preps themselves.

Sunday the Junior Class concert was held as part of the Chapel services. The program:—

Response—Angelia Watson and Arlie Gray Talk—"Achievements of Columbus" and poem "Columbus" John G. O'Brien Hymn—"Lead, Kindly Light" Arlie Gray Talk—"A Man's Reach Should Exceed His Grasp"—Geneva Florence

Dr. Charles Russell Ely closed the exercise with a prayer. This proved to be an entertaining and educational program and the students are eagerly awaiting for the other classes to stage their concerts.

On Saturday evening, October 12th, at 7:30 p.m., the Y. W. C. A. held its first regular meeting in the reading room of Fowler Hall. A very entertaining program was rendered by members, which included:—

Opening Prayer—Lucy Buchanan, '34 Hymn—"Abide With Me" Catherine Bronson, '32 Address—Prof. Harley D. Drake

Isadore Hurowitz, '30, now working as linotype operator in Manassas, Va., has been on the campus during the last few week-ends. While pleased with his job, a small country weekly, he has ambition to graduate before long to a larger newspaper. Ambition like his will some day find its reward.

It is time that due credit be given to Henry Harvey Holter, '30, for the fine football programs he printed in the interest of the college. Holter, a fine upstanding young man, has been working, since matriculating, at Rockville, Md., but has been frequently seen on the campus.

National Fire Prevention Week was observed by a talk in the Chapel by Dr. Ely, after which the boys made a resolution to take extreme care that the fire hazards of the college be reduced to the minimum. Thanks must be given to the boys, especially the Seniors, who have a great regard for the opportunity the college offers them, which would not be the case if Gallaudet was in ashes.

With the hope that tennis and swimming will some day become a major sport like basketball among the Co-eds, more attention is being given to these sports. Among the new students are several "dark horses," who are expected to make athletic history before the college year is over. Miss Ruth Remsburg, physical education instructor, will see to the learning of the fundamentals of the common sports, including how to cook and the care of the house.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Friday, Oct. 24.—Football, vs. U. of Baltimore, at Oriole Baseball Park, Baltimore, 8:15 p.m.
Saturday, Oct. 25.—Co-ed sight-seeing trip with Miss Peet. Literary Society Meeting, 7:30 p.m.
Sunday, Oct. 26.—Y. W. C. A. meeting.
Friday, Oct. 31.—Co-ed Halloween Party, Fowler Hall.
Saturday, Nov. 1.—Football, vs. Medical College at Carlisle, Pa., 2:30 p.m. O. W. L. S. meeting, Fowler Hall, 7:30 p.m.

Playing on a wind-swept field before a throng of strangers, our gallant Blues of Gallaudet hit the first snag of the year in the form of the University of Delaware eleven, at Newark, Delaware, last Saturday, suffering a 38-0 setback.

Seemingly unable to function as a unit, showing nothing of the speed, power and precision so noticeable at home under normal conditions, the Blues went to pieces from the start. Coach Hughes, who had labored like a man possessed, preparing for this first game on a foreign field, after one minute of play saw whatever hopes he had before the game go glimmering into the deepest hole. Delaware's first downs went unaccounted for during the afternoon. After first exchanges of punts it became a mere matter of how great a score the Delaware boys would roll up.

Shot When He Could Not Hear Command

HANKOW, Oct. 15 (U. P.)—The stringent martial law enforced in Hankow as a precautionary measure against outbreaks was a blessing to all law-abiding citizens but Chen Chi-Chang, a seventy-five-year-old rice dealer.

Chen wanted to cross the river from Wuchang to Hankow after dusk, but as martial law was in force he was ordered to stop and throw his hands up.

He disregarded the order and walked on, to be shot down and wounded. Examination revealed that he was deaf and dumb.

READING BANQUET

Reading Division No. 54, National Fraternal Society of the Deaf, celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of its founding by holding a banquet at Friedensburg, also known as Oley, Pa., on Saturday evening, October 11th, 1930.

Oley is the original name of the town, which has less than a thousand inhabitants, and is situated in the Oley Valley, about ten miles north-east of the city of Reading. While the people have chosen the new name of Friedensburg, the U. S. Post Office Department clings to the old name, which has held for about one hundred and thirty years, more or less.

The eleventh being the regular monthly meeting time of Reading Division, a meeting was accordingly held at four o'clock in the afternoon. A special trolley car had been chartered by the Division to convey the members and participants of the banquet to Friedensburg, and back again in the late evening. The car left the Reading Outer Depot at 6:30 p.m., and stopped only at Seventh and Penn Streets to take on the last batch of would-be diners.

The trip consumed less than an hour. The landing should have been made at a point on the newly cemented Reading Pike which leads directly up to the Oley Valley House, the objective point; but, for some reason unknown to the writer, the stop was made at the last stopping place of the trolley line some fifty yards above where a rough, unlighted lane led up to the town's main street. A small number of the diners, who came from Reading by automobiles, had a de luxe ride on the fine concrete pike to the hotel.

The scene of the banquet was in Roach's Hall, a commodious new frame building, owned by the proprietor of the Oley Valley House, and separated from it only by a narrow driveway to the hotel yard. The hall seemed appropriate for such an occasion, being amply large and having a high stage with good scenery. It was simply decorated, two large National flags predominating, and two long rows of tables were provided for our party, which numbered close to a hundred. Mr. Alexander L. Pach, of New York City, was the guest of honor and occupied the seat on the right of the President of Division No. 54, Mr. Harry H. Weaver. The other officers of the Division and visiting guests, including the Rev. H. J. Pulver and others, sat on either side of them, while a good sprinkling of ladies were scattered over both rows of tables.

A good and wholesome dinner was served, without using fancy and rich-sounding names or other frills, save flowers; and would you believe it, not a drop of legalized liquor was to be had in the dining-hall.

Following is the menu:—

Chicken Soup
Celery
Olives	Roast Chicken	Pickles
Filling	Sweet Potatoes
	Peas
Tomatoes	Corn
	Pie
Ice Cream	Coffee

After the last course had been served, the diners took positions close to the stage to better enjoy the "flow of soul." Rev. Henry J. Pulver acted as toastmaster in a happy entertaining way. He first called on H. H. Weaver, President of No. 54, to give his greetings.

"Our History" was responded to by Secretary Edwin C. Ritchie, and he took occasion to remark that the name Friedensburg, the place of this year's dinner, was synonymous with "peaceful burg." "Hail, Reading No. 54," was "sung" by Mr. Pulver himself. Mr. Pach responded to "A Great American" by eulogizing the late F. P. Gibson. From the applause which greeted his delivery we may infer that the whole body of diners were in hearty accord with his estimate of the man whose dying words were "Carry On," and which now seems to be Reading Division's chief slogan. After this, a half life-size bust of Mr. Gibson, handsomely framed and draped with the American flag, was unveiled on the stage by Miss Mitzel, of York, Pa., amidst the cheers of all present. It was the work of Mr. Pach, and now is the property of Reading Division.

Impromptu speeches were made by Messrs. J. S. Reider, John A. Roach and F. J. Charlesworth, and then a few closing remarks by President H. H. Weaver, expressing his pleasure at the success of the anniversary banquet. Before closing, however, Mr. Pach was called on the stage again and presented with a handsome gold Waldemar chain on behalf of the Division. The banquet Committee was composed of the following members of No. 54: Messrs. P. O. Albert, chairman; J. L. Wise, O. T. Weidner, S. Goldberg and E. E. Ritchie, who deserve praise for the success of the banquet.

We regret that we did not obtain the names of all the visiting Frats, who came from Philadelphia, Lancaster, York, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Lebanon and a few other places. Perhaps we may be able to give them later, if some one will help us.

After the dinner, Rev. Mr. Pulver took Mr. Pach back to Reading in his car, and they were guests for the night in Reading's gorgeous new seventeen-story "Abraham Lincoln Hotel," and after breakfast, Mr. Pulver drove Mr. Pach to Allentown, where Mr. Pach made rail connection for his old home, Easton, Pa., where he spent Sunday and Columbus Day as the guest of his old pal, Ex-Mayor B. Rush Field, who, forty years ago was the power that broke down B. P. O. Elks' restriction against deaf members, and Dr. Field personally conducted the initiation that brought Mr. Pach, Mr. E. A. Hodgson and Dr. Thomas F. Fox into Elksdom, all three at that day becoming full brothers in the "Hello Bill," as B. P. O. E. is nick-named. While in Easton, Mr. Pach called on Mrs. Julia A. Will, who will soon celebrate her ninetieth birthday, but who is just as keen mentally and as spry physically as she was at half that age.

Mr. Reider prolonged his visit to Oley, where his father was born, staying with a brother on his farm until the following Tuesday, when he returned to Philadelphia by motor coach. This brother and Mr. Reider are the only ones of the family left in the East. The other brothers and sisters have lived in Kansas and California a long time.

FROM LANCASTER

Through the help of Anna M. Brunner, of Lancaster, we are enabled to report the following birthday surprise party. The party which was held on the evening of October 9th, last, was conceived by Mrs. Abram Huber, of Lititz, Pa., her aunt, Mrs. Timothy Purvis, at the latter's home in Lancaster. As a ruse, Mr. and Mrs. Purvis were invited to spend the day at Mrs. Huber's home, and during their absence, preparations were easily made at her home by Misses Mary Purvis and Anna Brunner.

The guests arrived at 7:30 in the evening, but Mr. and Mrs. Purvis were purposely delayed a half hour longer. When they finally came on the porch of their home, Mrs. Purvis saw by the bright light of the kitchen window, plates of fruit and cake. She entered the house hurriedly and passed through the dining room, whence she was surprised and greeted by nephews and nieces and grandchildren, and the following deaf: Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Rohrer, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Myers, Mr. and Mrs. John Etter, and Mr. and Mrs. Sensenig.

They showered her with hearty congratulations on her seventy-fifth birthday. Thus the surprise party was very successful. Mr. Purvis helped his wife to open the packages, one of which had a large cake bedecked with seventy-five pink and green little candles. Other packages contained numerous useful gifts and money. Ice-cream, cakes, candies, and fruit were served, and altogether a very enjoyable time was spent by all, the party lasting until a late hour.

Seven nephews and seven nieces, nine grandnieces, five grandnephews, two great grandnephews and one great grandniece were the generations represented at this delightful event.

There were nearly sixty people at the party, including the deaf couples mentioned in the account. We are sorry that our space is too limited to give the names of all the hearing persons present, who numbered almost half a hundred. And they were, a jolly crowd.

Mr. and Mrs. Purvis conducted a farm successfully for many years, near the city of Lancaster, until advancing age made it seem advisable for them to retire about half a dozen years ago. They now live in a home of their own, on the outskirts of the city. An unmarried sister of Mr. Purvis, also deaf, has lived with the couple for a long time, and has proven very helpful, for they have no children. And last, but not least, Mr. Purvis was the writer's schoolmate at the Broad and Pine Streets school, under the tutelage of the late John P. Walker.

Mrs. Emma J. Dantzer closed her Wildwood cottage about two weeks ago, and is now spending some time in this city alternately with her two sons. She intends to go west again before the holidays swing around.

Basketball

Tuesday night, October 14th, the Margraf basketball team inaugurated its 1930-31 season by losing a hard-fought game to the Hillcrest A. C. five, by the score of 31 to 26. The losers staged a great rally to overcome the lead, which was halted by the bell.

NEW YORK

News items for this column should be sent direct to the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL, Station M, New York.

A few words of information in a letter or postal card is sufficient. We will do the rest.

DEAF-MUTES' UNION LEAGUE

October 16th saw a big attendance at the monthly business meeting of the Deaf-Mutes' Union League. The large "Union League Hall," was almost filled. The regular routine of business was gone through in dispatch time, after which nominations for new officers for the year 1931 took place.

President Jack O. Ebin appointed Messrs. Benjamin Mintz as inspector, and Joseph Peters, Joseph Goldstein, Henry Plapinger and Morris O. Kremen, as tellers.

The result of the nominations was as follows:—

For President—Jack Ebin vs. Benjamin Friedwald.

For First Vice-President—Charles Sussman vs. Joseph Mortiller.

For Second Vice-President—Lester Cohen vs. Arnold A. Cohn.

For Secretary—Nathan Schwartz vs. John N. Funk.

For Treasurer—Samuel Lowenherz vs. Benjamin Mintz.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

'Twas on the 18th of October that an old fashioned Hallowe'en party was held in the Union League Hall. The committee, headed by Lawrence Timmer, with the addition of Jack Selzer, decorated the hall to conform to the occasion.

About one hundred and fifty were present, and a jolly crowd they were.

No time was wasted in starting things. Jack Seltzer started with the balloon blowing contest. Five ladies at a time, then five cents. The first to burst their balloon were declared the winners.

The winners of each event afterwards contested for the cash prizes. They were:—

Ladies—Mrs. Anna Seffer and Mrs. Sallie Kerner.

Gents—Willie Weiss and Victor Coopersmith.

There was a game of "gold digging." Peanuts were scattered about the room, in one of peanuts was hidden the treasure. Louis Cassinelli was the lucky one to find it.

The new kind of game, something like the old-fashioned Boston game, but different on account of the chairs being set in a straight line instead of in a circle was hotly contested. The winners were Miss Anna Gleicher and Meyer Seffer.

On the platform was a large pan filled with water, in it were apples, which contained money, from a cent to a quarter. All were invited to secure them with their teeth.

The final game was a flashlight dance. The room was darkened, except Jack Selzer with a powerful flashlight. When he flashed same at dancers, they were counted out. The lucky couple to escape the glare of the flashlight were Isidore Sweeney and Miss Ida Lukin.

The music was furnished by the Protean band, composed of Messrs. Port, Marshall and Koblenz.

Miss Rebecca Israel is the name of a pretty young girl of nineteen, who came to New York six months ago, from Warsaw, Poland. She has secured steady employment at embroidery at fair pay, and already is mingling with the deaf socially. She stated that in Poland they have deaf-mute gatherings same as here, but she likes it here better than her mother country. She was only a little girl at the time of the World War, but recollects many sad things that she never wishes to see again.

BLUE BIRD GIRLS

On Saturday, October 25th, all roads will lead to Masonic Temple, 310 Lenox Avenue, near 125th Street, where the Blue Bird girls, will hold sway, with a grand and glorious time assured to every one who attends. A Hallowe'en affair run by these girls will sure be one treat. The last affair given by this club, turned in a neat sum for the De l'Epee Fund, and surely proved what they can do. Prizes will be given for Hallowe'en costumes. Games and dancing will also prevail. Refreshments will be served, while ghosts, goblins, witches, fly about.

At the Flushing Hospital, in Flushing, L. I., on the 10th of September, a baby boy weighing nine pounds was born to Mr. and Mrs. George Olsen. The newcomer who will bear his dad's name, was born by a Cæsarian operation. We hope that George Junior will grow up to be as fine an artist as his dad.

Mr. Abe Raboff is very sick in the Jewish Hospital of Brooklyn. His room is No. 305. The visiting hours on Wednesday only are 2 to 3 and 8 to 9 p.m.

The Brooklyn Guild of the Deaf will have a Hallowe'en Party, Saturday, October 25th, at the Church of Messiah, Greene and Claremont Aves., Brooklyn, N. Y.

SEATTLE

Mr. Charles J. LeClercq, an ex-President, who migrated to California, and now in New York was present at the meeting of the Union League, and by request addressed the meeting from the platform. Mr. LeClercq's remarks were very well received as he paid a high tribute to the achievements of the League. Later in the evening he went to the Men's Club at St. Ann's and was enthusiastically received and applauded after a neat but brief address. He arrived in New York, on a holiday of three months, on Tuesday last, and is stopping at Hotel Endicott, West 80th Street, with his wife, who came with him. While in New York, which was their former home prior to their departure for California, they will celebrate the thirty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. Their meeting with many old-time friends will be a mutual joy.

John Maier and the uncombed hair has returned from his trip abroad. John has filled out, fattened and looks fine. The tour took him via Bremen to his homeland, Poland. John says—"The deaf of Germany are very much up against it. Poverty and lack of employment has hit them to near starvation. Poland is a bit better to the deaf people. Most things are cheap in Germany, with the exception of clothing which is priced higher than here. Living in Poland is very cheap. Three American dollars will last a week and bring all the frills there."

Owing to the smaller steels in use in Deutschland since the war and deterioration of quality of amber brew, John stopped only long enough in Berlin to sample a few, and faded to Poland, where the "Gallon Crock" is still three cents, (U. S. A.) and still A1. Due to some misunderstanding of the time of sailing, Mr. Maier missed the Europa at Bremen, and the courtesy of the German officials was asked and he was sent by rail to Cherbourg.

Fair of the Brooklyn Guild will be held November 7th and 8th. On Friday, November 7th, a light supper a la carte will be served. On Saturday, November 8th, there will be a full course dinner. The members of the Guild, especially the ladies, have long been busy making things for the fair. They realize times are hard just now and prices will be more than reasonable. It is hoped the deaf folks and their friends will come and see the stocks they have and buy, too. Mrs. Schnackenberg, 4 Bragg Court, Sheepshead Bay, N. Y., will appreciate any donations toward the fair.

On Saturday evening, November 8th, Armistice Day will be celebrated by the Deaf-Mutes' Union League. There will be contest talks about the day. Prizes will be given to the one who, in the judgment of a committee, delivers the best talk on this topic. After the talk-fest, there will be a silent movie. Non-members will be admitted by cards, secured from members.

Mrs. Cora Willets died of cancer, at the age of sixty-two, on Saturday, October 11th, at her residence in Cedar Manor, L. I. The Rev. G. C. Braddock officiated at the funeral, on Tuesday afternoon, October 14th. Interment was made in Old Westbury, L. I. Mrs. Willets was the mother of Elmer J. Willets, a former pupil of Fanwood.

Max Cohen was in New York for a week visiting relatives and friends. He called at the JOURNAL office, as did Charles Golden, on Tuesday, October 14th, just before leaving for Concord, N. H., where he is a proof-reader in an extensive printing plant. Mr. Edward Rowse is also a proof-reader there, and Mr. Charles Moscovitz a valued member of the composing room staff.

Mrs. Kenneth Willman, remembered here as the pretty and vivacious Miss Cecile Hunter, left for the west on Wednesday evening, for her home in Los Angeles, Cal. She will make stops of two or three days at Detroit, Lansing, and Flint, Mich., and at Chicago, then through to Los Angeles via Santa Fe. During her visit to New York, she was guest of honor at numerous parties. Many of her deaf friends were at the Grand Central Station to say good-bye.

David Netz died Saturday, and was buried the next-day, according to Jewish rites, as he was an orthodox Jew. He was about twenty-four years of age, and his death was a great shock to all who knew him. He was operated for trouble with his ear, and failed to rally. For a time before the operation he was delirious and very ill, but only for a few days. He was a great frequenter of the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, and took regular exercise there. His illness and death took place so suddenly, that we were all reminded that no one knows what the morrow may bring forth.

The maternal grandmother of Alice Wilberg died recently in North Dakota. This makes three deaths within a year among her relatives, both grandmothers and an uncle passing. Her mother attended this last funeral, and found that all the children were there, seven in all. One came from Stillwater, B. C., two from Montana, one from Michigan, one from Minnesota, one from Seattle, and one resided in North Dakota. The mother of these seven was ill for only fifteen minutes before the end.

Finding that his mill at Ballard was closed indefinitely, Robert Bronson has gone home to his parents at Yakima. He writes that business is no better there than anywhere else. So many men have flocked to the ranches looking for work during the harvests, that there are many "No Help Wanted" signs hung out.

The Tuesday bridge club met with Mrs. Hanson, and a pleasant evening was spent. The next meeting will be on the twenty-first.

The Gallaudet Guild bazaar will be held October 18th. Miss Doris Nation will be salesgirl, in charge of the articles for sale. A hot supper will be served at about 10 p.m.

Miss Clara Allen has rented her house on North 79th Street, but remains as cook for the family. She is a top-notch cook, and loves the work, so the arrangement will be a pleasant one for her.

In the meantime, Mrs. Smith is boarding with Mrs. Biggs, an old family friend. Mrs. Biggs' house is very near Miss Allen's, so the sisters can see each other frequently. Mrs. Biggs is planning to visit for three months in Iowa soon, and during her absence, Mrs. Smith will take care of her house. Mrs. Smith is a widow.

Miss Eva Hoganson came to Seattle a month ago, and more recently her younger brother, Harold, also came. They are both looking for suitable work, and if they find it they may remain here. They have a hearing sister, Helen, who is a resident here, and she will do all she can to help them in landing work.

The Frats held a pie and coffee social, in the banquet hall of the Eagles building, on September 27th. The pies were made and donated by the wives of Frats. About ten dollars was cleared towards the expenses of the Frat delegates to Boston to be elected later.

On September 28th, we made a trip to Snoqualmie Pass, taking Sophie Mullin and Lance Evans as guests. Issaquah is Lance's home town, and while passing through he pointed out the parental home, and that of his sister, and some of the places where he hunted and fished as a small boy. At the Falls, we found the water completely dried up, and nothing but grey bare rocks to admire. The falls will be in full volume again, when the rains start. The return trip was made by way of Kirkland. The roads the whole way were fine and paved, except that for a short distance of the fifteen-mile stretch between Falls City and Redmond, where the gravel was new and loose.

That young friend of ours, who is so fond of hunting and fishing, went out at daybreak of the first day of the open season for birds. Three of his pals went with him and at Sultan, towards Index, they all got good bags. Our friend brought down with his shot gun a pheasant grouse and four quail, and brought them all to us. The hunter and his best girl were our guests when we feasted on the game. There was as much meat on the grouse as on a good-sized chicken.

Recently, while Helen Hanson was visiting her sister in Oakland, they were all in Marion County for the day, and they dropped in to see Mr. and Mrs. Tilley at Tiburon. They showed Helen over their beautiful estate.

The newly-weds, Alice and Homer, are now comfortably situated in their flat on Claremont Avenue in New York. It is only a block from Riverside Drive, and a couple of blocks from Alice's office at the Encyclopedia. Homer has started teaching at Rutgers College. Betty, the daughter-in-law of Upton Sinclair, is gone for a year's residence in Europe, and to avoid storage charges, is letting the young couple use some lovely mahogany furniture. There is a chest of drawers, a gate-leg table, a bed, four chairs, a bookcase and a lamp. They consider themselves in clover, and have reason to do so.

THE HANSONS.
October 11, 1930.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bacca and their children, of Brooklyn, are now at Santa Fe, N. Mex. They visited the school for the deaf there, where Mr. Bacca was educated. They will soon return home to Brooklyn.

Wilksburg, Pa.

Autumn and all its activities is well on its way and Indian summer is about over, but for all that a good many of our folk around her are still out of work, so to them its a dull season—there are signs of better times, however.

Among those looking for employment and visited at the W. S. C. rooms recently were Henry Rex and John Kinja, of Johnstown. John Kuharski, his sister, Sophia, and Miss Jean Saunders were also on the lookout for work, also Andrew Kapash, of Windber, and George Furia were visitors.

Mrs. Jessie Laird, sister of W. L. Sawhill, and formerly of Johnstown, died recently at the Woodville County Home, where she had lived for some time. Funeral was held at the home of her son, David Laird, in Dormont. She was the mother of Mrs. Ida Laird Clow, of Johnstown.

Walter Jackowsky died at the home of his parents in Braddock September 29th, after a brief illness. He was a member of the senior class at Edgewood, and was present at the opening of school, but soon after developed an affection of the ear, and was taken home a few days before his demise. He was a promising student and gave evidence of brilliant success in his studies.

The Friend farm continues to be a popular objective for deaf motorists from this neighborhood and each weekend brings them numerous friends, especially those who own autos and long drives. The Friends are not likely to have ennui as long as the weather will permit outings to the country.

The soccer football season is in full swing now as well as other popular games. The boys at the Edgewood school won a game from the P. S. C. eleven September 27th. The result being 9 to 2, in favor of the school boys. Mr. Albert Davis, the new supervisor of boys, umpired the game. Mr. Davis is kept rather close to his job, it seems, as we have not had a chance to see much of him since he came.

We hear with much concern that Mr. Gerald Tussing, of Jeannette, has been confined at Greensburg Hospital for some time past. He suffered an attack of typhoid and a serious hemorrhage. He was improving slowly at last accounts.

Mrs. Elizabeth Callahan suffered the loss of her sister, Mrs. Anna Schaum Miller, of Mansion Street, Regent Square, who died at Columbia Hospital, after a brief illness. Another sister of Mrs. Callahan, residing in Los Angeles, Cal., visited relatives and friends in Pittsburgh during the summer, and was present when her sister passed to the beyond.

The employees of the great Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company of East Pittsburgh and Wilmerding, to the number of many thousand, were given a half-holiday Monday, October 6th, that they might attend the unveiling of the George Westinghouse memorial in Schenley Park. Only four deaf men wore the special badge of the great Westinghouse Corporation, and these were Daniel Irvin, James McGivern, Reed Krotzer and George Lawther. It is needless to say they are proud of the honor.

We were glad to see James Butterbaugh at the Wilksburg Frat meeting October 5th. He has many friends around here, and they give him the glad hand. At this meeting of No. 109, N. F. S. D., two new members, Harry Richards and Laurence Frank were initiated and this means this Division is still attracting new members.

One day last week, Mr. Friend was mysteriously called out to the farm. When arriving late at night he was asked by the boys to request their mother to cease her outdoor activities on the farm, picking apples and such strenuous work, as she had a plenty of housework to attend to. That seemed quite reasonable, so he had a kindly talk with the queen of the farm, and it was agreed she would not exert herself so vigorously in the future. Health and happiness go with moderation it is believed.

W. McK. Stewart breezed in at the social at the club rooms least Saturday, and entertained the company that had gathered to enjoy an entertainment supposed to be provided by Mr. and Mrs. Krotzer, but which owing to untoward circumstances had collapsed. W. McK. was equal to the occasion, however, and told how he motored 158 miles from Canton to Ligonier to be in at the corn roast given by the Hartzel family. He also gave an account of his visits with the Callaghans, of Cleveland, and the Durians, of Canton, all good friends, of the Wilksburgers. Mr. Stewart also reported that Miss Byington, of Jeannette, and Miss Duncan, of West Newton, are now employed in a Canton laundry and are doing well, also becoming popular in Canton.

John Smith, our genial friend, of Mt. Pleasant, was in Wilksburg recently, and he informed us that Dominic Casa of his town had acquired the ownership of a Chevrolet coupe, and was on the road peddling a line of household articles and apparently was making good in his venture. We knew Dominic was something of a live wire when he was at school here a few years ago, but we never dreamed he'd go so fast and so far in such a short time.

Dick and James Friend were down from the farm recently and stayed in town over the week-end. They attended the Frat meeting on the 5th inst., and hobnobbed with old friends. They are still very enthusiastic over farm life, however, and look the picture of health and physical vigor.

Hugh Hartzel and wife and sister, Josephine, were down from the farm to attend the W. S. C. social on the 4th inst., and it was evident they were all well satisfied with life as allotted them. They are planning to motor up to the Friend farm, and compare conditions on their respective places.

George F. Grimm, Carl Anderson and Charles Ueckerman, were also at the entertainment and apparently enjoyed visiting about among their old friends, rather than sitting out the entertainment that was scheduled.

Mr. Stevenson and Dick Friend spent most of their time that evening around the pool table, clicking the ivorys. This was also the favorite pastime of Walter Eckhardt and John Smith, while others played bridge or "500."

Mrs. Krotzer told us about meeting another deaf impostor at her home recently. She received a card stating the bearer was "deaf and dumb" and would she please give him a helping, etc. When she addressed him in signs, the rascal snatched his card from her hand and hurried off to other victims. The impostor is still on the road.

Some time ago, Daniel Irving, sporting his new Reo car, took Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sawhill up through the famous Cook forest in Clarion and Jefferson Counties. The party was greatly pleased with the trip.

Among the recent visitors in Wilksburg were Mr. Frank Wilson, of Ashtabula, O., and Mr. H. McKinney, of North Bend, also of Ohio.

Mr. Wilson has been with the Aetna Rubber Co. for the past seven years, and was enjoying a short vacation. Mr. Kinney, on the other hand, was looking for a job in Pittsburgh.

Local football fans are showing much interest in the prospective football game, Gallaudet vs. St. Francis College at Loretto, scheduled for November 21st. Mr. Leitner is likely to make up a party from here to attend and cheer for the Buff and Blue.

Miss Irene Schifino expects to visit Washington, D. C., October 11th. She will take in the sights of the Capital City, and visit the newly admitted students (four of them) from the Edgewood school as well as some others who went before.

Mrs. A. C. Manning returned yesterday, October 7th, from a ten-day visit in Philadelphia, where she had Mr. Manning's mother to entrain for her home in Georgia. Little Ruth and her nurse accompanied them. Mrs. Manning drove the car there and back. This exercise comes to be a matter of course, with Mrs. Manning. She brought her sister back with her, so she had good company both ways.

And now the "Mid-week Circle" or the same under a different name, is on the way. Mr. Teitelbaum, and some other social lights are behind the project, so it may be assumed as a fact. We will report later on this matter.

The latest from the school confines is to the effect that Mrs. Davies is sporting a brand new Willys-Knight auto sedan, including all the latest equipment and possible improvements. Since her marriage she doubtless feels the need of a more roomy car than her old coupe afforded.

Deaf Children Now and Then

How different is the modern care of deaf children from the bad old ways of earlier times.

By the laws of ancient Rome, deaf and dumb children were considered incapable of education, and were put to the sword, afterward, by order of the emperor, being dashed over the rocks into the sea. It was not until Christ "made the deaf to hear and the dumb to speak," that these helpless unfortunates were restored to society.

Until 1620, however, they remained outside the pale of education. At that time, Pedro Ponce, a Benedictine monk, with Juan Paulo Bonet, published a valuable work on the education of deaf-mutes, and invented a manual alphabet, identical with the one-handed alphabet now used in many countries, though nothing practical was done with it at that time.

A little later, at Pavia, Jerome Carden, a man of great talent, discovered the principle upon which instruction of the deaf and dumb is founded. He wrote: "Writing is associated with speech, and speech with thought; but written characters and ideas may be connected together without the intervention of sounds," just as one can read French without pronouncing it. It remained for the Abbe de l'Epée to devote himself to the study of this principle and perfect an alphabet of signs, founding the first school of Paris in 1760.

Today skilled and devoted workers impart an ordinary education which equals the standards of the ordinary schools, and also teach trades, such as tailoring, bootmaking, carpentry, farming and gardening.

With such opportunities for training and education there is no necessity for deaf children to be doomed to mental punishment, when they might easily be equipped to take a part in the community life of these institutions, and later on in that of their country.—The Land.
